Description

The Puppet SSH
provider name given in the puppet.yml file after installation of FM 1.13.0 is incorrect, it should be puppet_proxy_ssh:

$ grep ssh /etc/foreman-proxy/settings.d/puppet.yml

puppet_proxy_ssh (run puppet over ssh)
    :use_provider: puppet_proxy_puppetssh

it should be puppet_proxy_ssh instead of puppet_proxy_puppetssh

This happens if the foreman installer was excuted with parameters like
--foreman-proxy-puppetrun-provider=puppetssh

Bug#15323 describes the same issue for FM1.12 and was closed in this context

Execute it with --foreman-proxy-puppetrun-provider=ssh then, and the resulting name should be correct. 1.12 (well, foreman_proxy 3.x) issued a warning for this value, it was deprecated in favour of "ssh".

The execution of the forman-installer with parameter --foreman-proxy-puppetrun-provider=ssh works fine and without error. Maybe the description of the installer options in the manual chapter 3.2.2 on the foreman website for version 1.13 needs to be updated instead.

Thanks for the report, validation (and listing of valid values in the installer's interactive mode) should be present since #17631.
